PROFESSIONAL PROFILE

I'm Yordanods, a Computer Science student at the University of the People with a foundation in software engineering from ALX, where I learned Python, Django, and Flask. Currently, I am working with Node.js and React, and I recently developed a website, VoiceForHer.info, using these technologies along with a PostgreSQL database. I am excited to apply my backend expertise and growing frontend skills in an entry-level role. Outside of tech, I enjoy reading, tennis, and family time, all of which fuel my collaborative and balanced approach to problem-solving.
